PERJURY.

The people of Fulton county have been following, during the past week the trial of one of the attorneys of the Bar of Fulton county on a charge of perjury.

The case was ably prosecuted and the jury undoubted by brought in the verdict of "not guilty" in accordance with the legal evidence and the charge of the Court, also perfectly legal, that such evidence must establish in their minds beyond a reasonable doubt the guilt of the person charged before a vote to convict can be given. The majority of people believe that "where there is smoke there must be some fire." There were a number of witnesses whetsified that they had committed perjury at the instance of the accused but the very fact that they and committed to having swom falsely when under safe would neutralise their teatimony. The American people are not, as a punishment, and the trial proposed their fellow citizens but diagrace of the courts shall be kept clean and that they shall judge justify between man and man without trajection or any other personal advantage. It would be a sand day for this country when the people of the country shall be the truth to the best of a the foundation upon which is builded this Republic. One of the things that will surely tend toward this loss of confidence is the impression that perjury in practiced in the courts of justice, that teatimony may be bought and sold; that witnesses may be suborned in any manner whatsoever to bear false witness after the people of the country when the repurse of the responsal amphition, money, none of these things that will surely people with the people of the court in which they practice and as such, and they are the people of the substitution of the people of the country the people of the country the cou

SPEECH OF GOV. WILLIS (Continued from page one)

William Allen White in a recent issue of Harper's Magazine says of the country town newspaper, "A newspaper is as honest as its town, as intelligent as its town, as kind as its town, as brave as its town and in a measure it is the will of the town."

The failure of the elephant to appear in Wauseon last Wednesday was a terrible disappointment to the small boys and girls and perhaps to some that are not so small and we sympathize with them, but this same failure left a couple of thousand dollars in the pockets of the people of this community that would have been taken out of the community had the circus come to town. a man of undaunted courage—he must be unafraid to challenge powerful induction in the understance in his ewn or any other party if they block the way of progress. His leadership must be that which comes from the successful advocacy of great principles as well as from the possession of attractive, commanding, inspiring personality. Personal leadership alone would leave the party confused and disorganized at the end of the Presidential term; leadership crystallized about the great principles of the Republican party will leave it cohesive and harmonious, undivided by personal factions. The Republican party and its principles are greater than any one man, however great and wise his leadership may be. This is a government of principles and
